

SPY OR TRAITOR, SAYS DANIELS.

Naval Ordnance Facts Revealed by Some One--Search Ordered.

Washington, June 11:—Investigation by the Senate naval committee of accidents caused by defective ammunition on armed merchantmen was interrupted today to await the outcome of a search by government agents for the writer of letters mailed from Detroit, Mich., to Senator Frelinghuysen revealing naval ordnance secrets.

Secretary Daniels, placing the letters before the committee, declared that either a spy or a traitor had been at work because the information disclosed could have been obtained nowhere except from the confidential files of the navy's ordnance bureau. He insisted that the writer should be found and required to explain.

The committee adjourned until Wednesday by which time it is hoped to locate the author of the letters.

Senator Frelinghuysen told the committee that he had no desire to shield any one and had sought unsuccessfully to discover the identity of his correspondent. Tonight he gave out a statement defending the letter writer, saying his object was the welfare of the country and to prevent further accidents, and declaring that Mr. Daniels' use of the words, "spy" and "traitor," was remarkable. He made public his letter to Secretary Daniels transmitting the letters, explaining that while he did not know his correspondent, he felt in all fairness the secretary should be informed of the charges made and that the documents mentioned should be produced.

Mrs. Frank Player and daughter of St. Augustine, Fla., visited the family of the former's brother-in-law, Mr. J. B. Player, this week.

Miss Amanda Edwards, home demonstration agent for Williamsburg county, is in Beaufort attending the short course in home demonstration.

Flies Breed in Filth

Red Devil Lye Eats Filth

Kill the Cause

Germ-carrying flies bring disease direct to your home from the privy and outhouse. They wipe their germ-laden feet on your food, bathe in the baby's milk and leave many forms of sickness—then come the doctor's bills—and you know what that means.

Flies carry on their feet filth and the germs of typhoid fever, malaria, consumption—perhaps infantile paralysis and other dread diseases.

Red Devil Lye

Destroys The Fly Eggs

SPRINKLE RED DEVIL LYE FREELY once or twice a week in your privy or outhouse. You can't use too much. It will clean up these places, remove the foul odor and stop fly-eggs from hatching.

RED DEVIL LYE is also simply wonderful for making soap, conditioning hogs and making compost for fertilizer.
